The PENNSYLVANIA GAZETTE.

Containing the Freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtic.

By the HAWKE, Captain WILLIAMS, arrived here from London, we have the following Advices, viz.

From the GENTLEMAN'S MAGAZINE for May, 1771.

Lord CHATHAM's SPEECH, in ſupport of the Duke of RICHMOND's MOTION, for reverſing the Judgment of the Houſe of Commons in the Caſe of the Middleſex Election.

My LORDS,

THE preſent queſtion has been ſo frequently agitated, and ſo perfectly underſtood, that it may ſeem ſuperfluous to enter into the diſcuſſion of it on this occaſion. The public has certainly formed its opinion, and condemned the deciſion of the two Houſes. That circumſtance alone is to me a ſufficient motive for refreſhing your memories, and for making one attempt more to procure juſtice to the injured electors of Great-Britain.

It will be ſaid, that this ſtep will create diviſions between the two Houſes, at a time which calls for the moſt perfect unanimity. Unanimity in the two Houſes is certainly very commendable, when both adhere to the principles of the Conſtitution; but in the caſe of the Middleſex Election, the Commons have daringly violated the laws of the land, and it becomes us not to remain tame ſpectators of ſuch a deed, if we would not be deemed acceſſary to their guilt, if we would not be branded with treaſon to our country, which now loudly calls for our aſſiſtance. Remove but this reſolution, which my noble friend has demonſtrated to be ſo unconſtitutional and abſurd, and we have an undoubted right to take this ſtep. We have precedent on our ſide. Our fore-fathers exerciſed this right in the caſe of Aſhby and White, and received the applauſes of the whole nation. It is ridiculous to pretend, that, by this act, we ſhall commit a breach of privilege. The Commons can have no privilege by which they are authorized to break laws. Whenever they forget themſelves, and commit ſuch outrage, we muſt ſtep forward, and check their uſurpation. Their juriſdiction can, in no inſtance, be ſo competent, final, and concluſive, as to prevent us from exerting ourſelves in ſupport of the conſtitution. We are the natural, the conſtitutional balance to their encroachments. If this be not the caſe, why, in the name of wonder, were the three eſtates conſtituted? Why is our concurrence neceſſary to eſtabliſh the validity of ſtatutes? This point is ſo evident, that it may be left to the deciſion of the raweſt ſchool-boy. If, then, we muſt concern ourſelves in the making of every law, how much more are we bound to intereſt ourſelves in preſerving the very eſſence of the conſtitution, in preſerving that right which is antecedent to all laws, the Right of Election. But Lord Middleſex and Lord Bacon were expelled and incapacitated by this Houſe, without any oppoſition from the other branches of the Legiſlature. They were ſo: But both were caſes that only reſpected themſelves, and, conſequently, could not, with any propriety, come under the conſideration of any other branch. In the caſe of Mr. Wilkes, I do not complain ſo much of the perſonal injury, as the violation of the rights of the people, who are groſly abuſed and betrayed by their Repreſentatives. The caſes, then, being as widely different as North and South, the argument founded on them becomes utterly inconcluſive. But let us allow you a ſuccedaneum to your argument, let us ſuppoſe that the authority which gives a ſeat to a Peer, is as reſpectable as that which confers it on a Commoner, and that both authorities are equally affronted by expulſion and incapacitation: Yet ſtill the compariſon will not hold; ſince theſe Lords received no freſh title by birth or patent, and therefore, could not claim a ſeat after the firſt expulſion.

Wilkes may, perhaps, complain, that he was unjuſtly expelled; but the chief ſubject of the nation's complaint is, that he was rejected after his re-election. Had not this event taken place, preſcription might have rendered the firſt expulſion valid. If you aſk, Who ſhould be more tenacious than the Commons themſelves of their privileges? I anſwer, that none ſhould be ſo ready to protect them; and it is ſincerely to be lamented, that, by their recent conduct, they have ſo far forgot their duty, as to add to the long liſt of venality, from Eſau down to the preſent day: Though, if we conſider matters in their true light, it is the privileges of their conſtituents that they have betrayed. Having now ſet up a ſeparate and independent authority, they would acquire, and you would grant them, a new privilege, that of ſelling their conſtituents. If you deſire to know how this doctrine came to be broached, I muſt beg leave to acquaint you, that it is as old, nay older than the conſtitution; the liberty of the people being the firſt thing for which proviſion is made in the original inſtitution of government. Though, in the caſe of Wilkes, we have not many inſtances to prove the conteſted right, yet it is by no means the leſs conſtitutional: Nay, it is the more ſo, that there are no parallel caſes in our hiſtory; as this circumſtance proves that it was never before queſtioned. The infrequency of the phœnomenon may, indeed, like a comet in the firmament, dazzle the vulgar and untutored: But the Stateſman, verſed in political ſcience, it effects no more than the common appearance, its courſe being equally ſimple and intelligible. Some have attempted to be very exact in calculating the proportion which the petitioners bear to thoſe who have remained quiet: But they have been unfortunate in one circumſtance, of which the omiſſion overturns their whole ſyſtem. They have compared the number of counties, not the number of their inhabitants. They forgot that they are not all equally populous, and that the fifteen petitioning counties contain more people than all the reſt of the kingdom, as they pay infinitely more land-tax. And were they not the more numerous of the two parties, yet, the ſuperiority of their wealth, entitles them to more conſideration than the other counties; for the ſhare of the national burdens, which any part of the kingdom bears, is the only rule by which we can judge of the weight that it ought to have in the political balance. This reaſoning is founded on the ſuppoſition that they entertain ſentiments different from one another. But who does not ſee that the reſt only wanted leaders to rouſe them to action? Were the caſe otherwiſe, leaders were not wanting to excite them to preſent addreſſes, and they would certainly have preſented them, had they diſapproved of the petitions. After conſidering the vaſt influence of the Crown, we may be juſtly ſurprized, that fifteen counties had the virtue to aſſert their rights, and the remainder independence enough not to counteract them. But, were the majority clearly on your ſide, you ought to remember, that numbers do not conſtitute right, and that, if no more than one had petitioned, that one ought to be heard, and to have his cauſe tried and adjudged by the laws of the land.

This much I thought neceſſary to ſay on this head, in order to ſhew you the neceſſity of reſcinding the reſolution on which the preſent motion is founded. 'Till it is complied with, we can take no ſtep towards the removal of the preſent diſcontents; and I ſhould imagine, that this ſingle conſideration would be ſufficient to induce all honeſt men to vote for the noble Lord's propoſition."

MADRID, May 13.

A COURIER arrived here laſt week from Prince de Maſſerano, his Majeſty's Ambaſſador at the Court of London. The diſpatches with which he was charged are relative to the diſarming of the Engliſh fleet; in conſequence of which, orders have been ſent to the different ports of this kingdom to do the ſame. We are aſſured however, that we ſhall leave as many ſhips armed as the Engliſh have at preſent in that ſituation.

Bruſſels, June 7. All alarms about the plague being at an end, the troops, that formed the line in theſe Countries, are recalled, and ordered to join their ſeveral regiments, and a free intercourſe is permitted every-where.

LONDON.

June 13. The Earl of Halifax dying without Iſſue Male, his Title becomes extinct.

Extract of a Letter from the Hague, June 7.

"Letters received here from Paris, dated the 3d Inſtant, ſay, Notwithſtanding the late vigorous Proceedings againſt the Counſellors of the Chatelet, a Reconciliation now ſeems likely to take Place. The King went on Friday laſt to St. Hubert's, accompanied by ſeveral Noblemen, Adherents to the Proteſts of the Princes; and it is aſſured, that a Conference was held there, in order to effect a Reconciliation between M. Bertin, Miniſter of State, the Duke de Penthievre, and the Duke de Nivernois. Another Conference is to be held this Day at Rambouillet, at which the King will be preſent.

"Theſe Letters add, that within a few Days paſt, three Printers have been ſent to the Baſtile. They were brought from different Towns of this Kingdom; but we know not yet preciſely what they are charged with."

At the Common-Council To-morrow, a Motion, it is ſaid, will be made, that the Sheriffs be requeſted not to ſuffer the Poll for the enſuing Election of Sheriffs to be printed on any Account; that the Books be never out of their Cuſtody after each Day's Poll is over; that the Clerks be watched that they do not take Minutes, and that the Poll-Books be burnt as ſoon as they are caſt up, and the Declaration is made.

The Biſhop of Durham had been inſenſible for ſeveral Days paſt. His Lordſhip had four of his Toes cut off laſt Week; but his Faculties were ſo far gone that he knew nothing of the Operation. His Lordſhip was within theſe few Years one of the handſomeſt Men of the Age, and from thence called the Beauty of Holineſs.

The lateſt Accounts from Hamburgh aſſure us, that the Empire of Ruſſia is far from being bettered by the late Succeſſes, as many Parts are left totally neglected.

Yeſterday the Lord Mayor, accompanied by Aldermen Stephenſon, Naſh, Sir James Eſdale, Halifax, Roſſiter, the two Sheriffs, with 57 Common-Councilmen, the Town-Clerk, and City Remembrancer, went about One o' Clock from Guildhall to St. James's (Sir Richard Glynn and Alderman Kennet joining the Proceſſion in Pall-Mall) and preſented to his Majeſty a Congratulatory Addreſs on the ſafe Delivery of the Queen, and the Birth of a Prince. They were all received very graciouſly, and had the Honour of kiſſing his Majeſty's Hand. Sir James Hodges read the Addreſs, to which his Majeſty returned a moſt gracious Anſwer. They were then aſked, by a Lord in Waiting, if any Gentleman choſe to have the Honour of Knighthood conferred on him, but it was declined.

They write from Plymouth, that Lord S------h attempted there to introduce certain great Foreigners to view the Shipping, Dock-Yard, &c. but the Officers had the Spirit to refuſe them Admiſſion, declaring that they would abide by the Order made by the whole Board of Admiralty (which was, not to admit any Foreigners, under any Pretence whatever) until ſuch Order was countermanded by the whole Board.

Many that are not wilfully blind have ſeen, for ſome Time, that ſeveral of the pretended Friends to the popular Cauſe, in both Houſes, have been preparing to deſert. The Deſtruction of Mr. Wilkes was a neceſſary previous Step to the Succeſs of ſuch a Plan: He is not to be purchaſed; he has eſcaped Aſſaſſins; nothing remains but to draw off the Confidence of the City; how far they and the Betrayer Judas ſhall ſucceed, will appear at the next Election for Sheriff.

A Gentleman ſaid, the other Day, ſpeaking of the conſtitutional Society, that they were only a Neſt of Hornets.

Laſt Tueſday, at the Meeting of the Bill of Rights, ſome of the Members, who are Merchants of Briſtol and Newcaſtle, undertook to raiſe a Subſcription at thoſe Places, for the Support of Mr. Wilkes and the Public Cauſe, to be delivered in at the Bill of Rights.

We are now told (but Heaven only knows with what Foundation) that every Species of Monopoly will be rendered Felony by P--------t the enſuing Winter; but is it not unfortunate, that in Caſes of ſuch a Nature we muſt wait the Ceremonials of a Bill, and be expected to ſtarve through the many intervening Months without Complaint, becauſe promiſed Redreſs at that remote and ſlowly-arriving Period?

The late Earl of Halifax has left a Legacy of 500l. and an Annuity for Life of 50l. to his Valet de Chambre, and two Years Wages to all the reſt of his Servants.

The Confuſions which prevail in the French Dominions, would enable us to derive great, and by no Means ungenerous Advantages, were our Commercial Intereſts properly attended to; but ſo peculiar is the Diſpoſition of the Engliſh, that for fear of incurring the Title of Knaves, they conſtantly prove their juſt Claims to the other Title, and never begin to perceive their Errors, till it is too late to retrieve them.

It is expected the Premier will ſoon reſign, as the Appointment of the Duke of Grafton to the Privy Seal was entirely againſt his Advice.

We are aſſured, that an Agreement is concluded between the Courts of London and Copenhagen, by which the former is to aſſiſt the latter with a naval Force againſt the Algerines.

The Hornet, Ham, from Virginia, is arrived in the Downs.

LONDON.

June 7. An offer, it is said, was lately made to a noble Lord, of ancient family, to advance him to a higher rank in the Peerage, which his Lordship refused, alledging, that till he should do something to merit such a distinction, he should look upon it rather as a satire than a compliment.

Since the Bishop of Durham's illness, the avenues of St. James's have been actually besieged, by a whole army of Clerical Solicitors. On Tuesday the Drawing-room was crouded with Cassocks; and a gentleman present, remarking this circumstance, said, he supposed the Bishop of London would, in case of a vacancy, be removed to the episcopal principality; a certain facetious Commoner replied, "Mr. Horne, Sir, gives us such a proof of his Lordship's attention to the morals of his Clergy, that the King cannot refuse him any mark of the royal approbation."

June 11. Last Wednesday Lord North was with Lord Halifax, when he informed him, that he came by command of his Majesty to enquire after his health. Lord Halifax replied, "Bless his Majesty! I thank him for this last instance of his goodness to me. I have received many favours from him, but I must now request favours from a much greater King."

Lord ------ the other day, in conversation with his son, said, you are now, Harry, arrived to a proper age to become solid; I heartily wish to see you soon married. "I am much obliged to your Lordship, replied the young Gentleman, but I assure you I have no inclination to keep a wh--- for the use of all my acquaintance."

A letter from the Hague, dated June 7, says, "It was yesterday positively asserted here, that peace between the Ottoman Porte and Russia is on the point of being concluded; and that this happy event is entirely owing to the mediation of the Emperor and the King of Prussia."

Extract of a Letter from Rome, May 14.

"On the 6th of this month a Portuguese Abbe, a discarded Jesuit, was arrested here; and notwithstanding the protection of the Sardinian Minister, who laid claim to him, he was put into a chaise, and sent to the frontiers of the Ecclesiastical State. The reason given for his banishment is, that he employed himself in writing a thousand falsities of his own invention, to excite new troubles between the Holy See and his Portuguese Majesty."

A very numerous meeting of the Livery is expected this evening at the Half Moon Tavern in Cheapside, when Mr. Wilkes and Mr. Bull will be put in nomination for Sheriffs. The latter, in an address to the public this day, says, "It was strongly my wish, considering several late important transactions, that Mr. Alderman Oliver might serve that office with Mr. Wilkes the ensuing year, but as he has declined, if the Livery of London should think me a proper person, notwithstanding the insinuations that have been thrown out to intimidate me, I shall not decline serving it with Mr. Wilkes, whose uniform consistent public conduct, has sufficiently convinced me of the uprightness and integrity of his intentions."

On Sunday arrived in England, from Pennsylvania, the Hon. John Penn, Esq; and Lady.

Count A. who is prosecuted by Lord L. for crim. con. with Lady L. has let judgment go by default, and a writ of enquiry for damages will be executed in a few days.

On Sunday was married at Kingston church, near Portsmouth, a couple whose ages together make 135.---The husband has been married three times, and is the father of 21 children, and the wife has been married twice, and is the mother of 16.

The Queen of Hungary is going to borrow of her Subjects in the Low Countries two millions five hundred thousand Florins.

Advice is received, that six Russian men of war are arrived at Gibraltar, on their way home to Petersburgh.

It is said that the Bishop of London, in whose Diocese Mr. Horne has the cure of souls, intends to call him to an account for writing those irreligious words, "It is true I have suffered the infectious hand of a Bishop, &c." and it is expected that he will have his gown stripped over his ears.

On Sunday morning, about two o' clock, a certain noble Earl was brought to the Poultry Compter, by two Watchmen of this City, for assaulting them, and breaking a lamp. The Keeper, as soon as he knew his quality, took him into the best room, and put him to bed (for he was much in liquor) where he lay till Sunday afternoon, when he procured bail, who yesterday surrendered him up, in order that he might be carried before a Magistrate; but his Lordship thinking it adviseable to make the Watchmen satisfaction, and thereby avoid the scandal, accordingly did so, and was thereupon at their desire discharged.

June 13. Yesterday was held a Court of Aldermen at Guildhall, when it was resolved, that a general retainer should be given to the Solicitor General, as Counsel for the City of London.

Extract of a Letter from Paris, June 3, 1771

"Our situation becomes more melancholy from one day to another. We are now at the eve of a general discredit. The Abbe Terray has put an end to his projects of resources, and beats a retreat. The King wants money, and must have it; he will neither retrench his expences nor his pleasures; the complaints of his people, as well in the provinces as in the capital, only render him more inflexible. As M. de Maupeou deals only in coups d'eclat, he has formed a plan to suppress all annuities, and to reduce to three per cent. those that are five; but some Members of the Council have strongly opposed this, and three Commissaries of the Council are appointed to find means to procure money. This is the result of their deliberations:

"1. The King owes to the 60 Farmers General 90 millions, advanced by them, for which he pays them eight per cent. and they borrow of the public at four per cent. This interest is to cease till further orders; the advantages they have reaped, from the day they advanced the money to the present time, must stand them in lieu of an indemnification, and, when the profit is balanced, the government will proceed to reimburse them.

"2. All annuitants, whether natives or foreigners, at 8 or 10 per cent. who have been in possession 16 or 20 years, shall have their contracts reduced to 4 per cent. and made an hereditary and transferable yearly income, which shall not die with them.

"3. Every annuitant at 5 per cent. shall be reduced to 3 1-half, provided he has enjoyed the same 20 years, without which he cannot be liable to the reduction.

"A project is talked of to suppress all the receivers-general of the finances, of the provinces called the state countries; of the land-tax, the poll-tax, and twentieth penny, and all officers commissioned and employed by them; and the whole is to be put under the management of the Intendants of provinces, and their sub-delegates; and also all the Chief Justices in Eyre, and all their Officers. This project was M. d'Inveaux's, and is the most advantageous for the King and the Public. The King reimburses all his charges in twelve years; augments his revenues six millions a year; and the people are eased of ten millions annually.

"As it is not doubted but these projects, or part of them, will be put in execution, we must of course expect a new form of government."

It is said that a Society of Gentlemen of Honour is forming, in order jointly to prosecute for fraud and deceit the Sharpers in the Alley, denominated Cormorants; such a sett as lately forged the account of the Aurora, for the base purpose of betraying persons into fraudulent and deceitful insurances.

Two small houses being burnt down at the entrance of Richmond, belonging to some poor laborious people, their distresses have so far moved the compassion of the Queen, that she has ordered them to be rebuilt and furnished at her own expence.

A Court Martial was sitting at Minorca when the last advices came from thence, on a noble Lord, for some misunderstandings between him and the Governor of that island.

The account in the papers that his Majesty had like to have been killed at the foot of Westminster Bridge, in his return from the review on Thursday last, is entirely false.

On Tuesday, at the Mansion-house, the Lord Mayor gave orders that no foreign dishes should be introduced at his table at the ensuing Courts of Conservancy, and that he will have only one course of plain English food; observing, that the present dearness of provisions was in some degree to be attributed to the prevailing luxury of the age; that though he in some measure was under a necessity of complying with the custom of the times at his own table, yet he never sat down to dinner since the present dearness commenced, but he felt for the industrious poor, who, in these monopolizing times, can scarcely obtain the common necessaries of life.

Some letters from Madrid mention, that the subjects of France are soon likely to be deprived of divers commercial privileges and immunities, which they have hitherto enjoyed in Spain.

Letters from Copenhagen say, that the King of Denmark is augmenting his Navy with four ships of 60 guns, two frigates of 20 guns, and six bombketches. Our King (say these letters) becomes daily more and more the object of the people's love and veneration; he never goes abroad, but his carriages are followed with repeated acclamations of "Long live the King."

They write from Senegal, that the French and Dutch interlopers now swarm upon the coast, and have contributed greatly to ruin the slave and gum trade with the natives of Africa.

Extract of a Letter from York, June 11.

"The several companies of the nine trades in Newcastle, at a meeting at their respective halls, on Monday se'nnight, resolved (and entered the same in the companies books) "That no donation, present, or money, should, directly or indirectly, be accepted for the purpose of an entertainment, or to any other purpose, from any candidate whatever, on any future election for Members of Parliament, either previous or subsequent to the election.

On Tuesday evening, at a meeting of the Livery, at the Half-moon Tavern, Cheapside, Mr. Poole took the Chair; and the Gentlemen present unanimously agreed to support the nomination and election of John Wilkes and Frederick Bull, Esquires, for the office of Sheriffs for the ensuing year.

John Kirkman and Richard Oliver, Esquires, are put up in opposition to Messrs. Wilkes and Bull; and the friends of all parties are making interest to secure votes for the Gentlemen whose cause they espouse.

Bets at the Coffee Houses in the City are now five to one, that Messrs. Wilkes and Bull will be returned Sheriffs for the year ensuing.

It is said that should Mr. Alderman Wilkes be chosen Sheriff, he intends to make great alterations respecting the treatment of Prisoners for debt in both the Compters and Newgate,

The Supporters of the Bill of Rights had a numerous meeting on Tuesday last at the London Tavern. Forty-one Members were present, and two Visitors had the leave of the Society to continue with them. One new Member was elected, and nineteen Gentlemen proposed as Candidates, who are to be balloted for at the next general meeting on the 25th instant. The sum of 285l. was received as fresh subscriptions since the last meeting. The Lord Mayor gave 100l. The patriotic propofition relative to all future candidates making a declaration on oath, that they will vote for and support a bill for shortening the duration of Parliaments, for a Place and Pension Bill, and for a more fair and equal representation of the people, took its rise from his Lordship.

June 15. The Charity-Schools of St. Clement Danes, in the Strand, having been lately removed for the Conveniency of building a Workhouse, and attended with a considerable Expence, a Charity Sermon extraordinary will be preached in that Church To-morrow Morning, by the Rev. Thomas Coombe, M. A. Chaplain to the Marquis of Rockingham, and the Collection appropriated towards the defraying such unavoidable Expence.

Extract of a Letter to the Printer from Paris, dated June 10.

"The public expected to be at length relieved from oppression, by the meditation of the Duke de Penthievre, at the two Assemblies held at St. Hubert and Rembouillet, but M. de Maupeou has made these interviews the subject of his triumph. The King, fatigued with weilding the rod of iron, with which he has ruled these ten months past, has delivered into the hands of the Duke d'Aiguillon, all the power which the Duke de Choiseul was invested with. Behold! he is now Prime Minister, at the very time when it was thought he was fallen from all his pretensions. It is to be feared that this event will be productive of as much bloodshed as the St. Bartholomew massacre. The people are all in an uproar at this news. The courier is setting out; I have not spirits to write any more."

From Greenwich we are assured, that the greater part of the seamen draughted from that Hospital, are now returned to their respective wards.

The following was read, on Sunday se'nnight, to the congregations in all the Roman Catholic Chapels in Dublin:---"Although we have hitherto frequently exhorted you to demean yourselves in a manner becoming peaceable and edyfying Christians, yet, as of late there has broken out in this City a spirit of riot and tumult, productive of the most audacious and unwarrantable proceedings, we think it highly incumbent on us, at such a juncture, to forbid you, and all those of our communion, under the severest censures that we can possibly inflict, to assist, or be present at, such lawless and abominable transactions. You cannot be ignorant, nor need we repeat it to you, that such flagrant works of iniquity must not only draw on the offenders the just and severe frowns of Government, but also the indignation and chastisement of an angry Heaven."

By Captain LAWRENCE, from Falmouth; and Captain MUNDS, from London; both arrived at New-York, we have the following Advices, viz.

Signed by order of Court, JAMES HODGES."

To which address his Majesty was pleased to return the following most gracious answer.

"I thank you for this dutiful address, and for your congratulations on the safe delivery of the Queen, and the birth of another Prince.

"It gives me great satisfaction to find that you consider the increase of my family as an additional security to our religion, and to that liberty which I look upon with pleasure as the basis of my government, and which I shall always think my honour and interest concerned to defend."

Letters just received from Constantinople, to an eminent merchant, who has favoured us with the intelligence, by which we can assure the public that the Russian Ambassador, who had been so long confined, was released the 5th of May last, and escorted with all possible honour and respect through the Turkish dominions to Adrianople---This is a confirmation of our account in yesterday's paper, of preliminaries being signed.

It is said that Lord Bute, who is gone down to his seat in Bedfordshire, is again relapsed, and that he intends soon to visit the Continent, finding that the English air does not agree with his constitution.

Sir William Meredith's brother is to be Canon Residentary of St. Paul's, in the room of Dr. Egerton, now Bishop of Durham; and not to have the living of Ross, as hath been mentioned in the papers.

Sir William Meredith, it is said, asked the Chancellorship of the Dutchy of Lancaster for himself; but it was settled for Lord Hyde.

On Thursday night about eleven o' clock the Chevalier D'Eon, whose extraordinary disappearance, above six weeks ago, has been the subject of much conversation and enquiry, arrived in good health at his house in Petty-France, Westminster; and immediately wrote a letter to Mr. Fountain, in Litchfield-street, of which the following is a translation:

"I arrived this moment from Germany, my dear Fountain, very much fatigued. I have great need to go to bed. Pray deliver to Coutain, my Valet de Chambre, the keys of my apartments. I have seen at Hamburgh, in one of the English papers, what your heart has done for me during my absence. I was so affected by it as to shed tears. This has determined me to return to England sooner than I hoped, to thank my real friends, like you, and to punish the insolence of such impertinents as have, during my absence, calumniated me.

"Good night. I reckon you will come and see me some time to-morrow. LE CHEVALIER D'EON."

Mr. Fountain accordingly waited on the Chevalier yesterday morning.

The Chevalier during his absence has travelled above 600 miles in Germany.

NEWPORT (Rhode-Island) August 19.

Last Tuesday a Ship, built on a new Construction, for carrying Home to England a large Quantity of Timber, was launched at Warren, in this Colony.----She was partly loaded, before launching, with Timber framed in so as to be almost solid, and is to be filled up in the same Manner; by which Means, though she will measure but about 160 Tons, Carpenter's Tonnage, it is said she will carry upwards of 1200 Tons of Timber. This Vessel is built on the Plan contrived by Mr. Levi, who has a Patent for building this Sort of Vessels, which are called Rafts.

Extract of a Letter from London, June 12.

"The Parliament being up, there is nothing stirring in the political World, of any Consequence; for I cannot give that Name to a furious Debate carrying on, at this Instant, between Wilkes and Horne. The whole Body of Patriots indeed belonging to the Bill of Rights Society, have had a woeful Falling-out lately. "What should be great," as Mat Prior says, "they turn to Farce;" and by so doing, have drawn upon themselves the Laugh of a whole Nation.----It yet remains a very apocryphal Question, whether or not Wilkes will be chosen Sheriff, notwithstanding all his patriotic Protestations. Mr. Alderman Oliver (who in private, as well as public Life, is a very respectful Character) in my poor Opinion, stands at least an equal Chance with him.----Lord North still continues at the Head of the Treasury, nor is it probable he will be removed from it before the Beginning of the next Session, if then. Even his Lordship's Enemies confess his Abilities. Lord Chatham, you need not my Information, is still the warm Partizan of America; but he has not been able to make his Way into Office this Year. I wish him better Luck the next; for, let his private Views be what they may, he is ever on the Side of Freedom.----You will have heard, it is probable, before this comes to hand, of the Deaths of Lord Halifax, Lord Strange, and the Bishop of Durham. The Duke of Ancaster, it is said, is to have the vacated Ribbon; and either the Bishop of London, or the Bishop of Litchfield and Coventry, will be translated to Durham. These are the Reports of the Day, and there is at least a Probability of their being founded in Truth, tho' not a Certainty of it. Lord Townsend is upon the Point of returning from Ireland, and a Paper of Yesterday mentions that Lord Hillsborough succeeds to the Viceroyship."

Extract of another Letter from London, June 14.

"Every Thing, at home and abroad, is likely to remain in a State of profound Tranquility. By a Letter I had Yesterday from Berlin, Peace is likely to take Place between the Turks and Russians. France remains in the same, or rather a worse Situation than I lately described to you, which ensures the Peace of this Part of Europe: So that the Subjects of the British Empire have only to attend to the Improvement of their Manufactures and Commerce, and quietly, and, I hope, thankfully to enjoy those Blessings which Providence hath so liberally bestowed upon them; greatly superior to those of any other Nation, antient or modern. The Duke of Grafton's Acceptance of the Privy Seal, is at once a Proof that he did not resign in Disgust, as was given out, and that the present Ministry will be permanent."

Extract of a third Letter from London, June 16:

"The Honourable RICHARD PENN, Esq; is expected to sail for Philadelphia about the First of September.----There is no News stirring, except the Change in the Ministry, upon the Death of Lord Halifax; Lord Suffolk is appointed Secretary of State, and the Duke of Grafton Lord Privy Seal.----Dr. Trevor, Bishop of Durham, died last Week, and Dr. Egerton, Bishop of Litchfield and Coventry, succeeds him.----Lord Strange is lately dead, and Lord Hyde is appointed Chancellor of the Dutchy of Lancaster in his Stead.---Dr. North, Brother to Lord North, and barely 30 Years of Age, is created Bishop of Litchfield."

Captain Cochran, from Dominica, on the 6th instant, in Lat. 22:16, Long. 65, spoke with Captain Hand, in a Schooner from Virginia for Antigua; 17th, in Lat. 32:25, Long. 71:30, spoke the Sloop Elizabeth, Captain Ritchie, from Antigua for New-York, out 14 Days; 19th, in Lat. 34:30, Long. 72:12, spoke the Ship Hope, Captain Robinson, of this Port, bound from Jamaica to London, out 22 Days, all well; Captain Robinson informed him, that about eight Days before, he saw five Sail of Spanish Merchantmen, and two Men of War (both Flag-ships) all ashore on Cape Florida; they were bound from the Havanna for Old Spain; and on the 22d, about 40 Leagues from our Capes, he spoke a Brig, Captain Hunt, from New-York for Rhode-Island, two Days out, all well.

Captain Cochran informs, that on the 24th of July, they had a very hard Gale of Wind at Dominica, from E. N. E. to E. S. E. which lasted about 12 Hours, attended with very heavy Rain, that caused the Waters to rise at Roseau, which carried away a Quantity of Lumber, and did other Damage; that about 12 Sail of Vessels then in the Harbour, were drove out to Sea; but they were all returned except two before he sailed, without any other Damage than some of them losing their Anchors and Cables.

Captain Williams from London, on the 5th Instant, in Lat. 33:19, Long, 65:30, spoke a Schooner, from Rhode-Island for the West-Indies, out 8 Days, but could not learn the Master's Name; 20th, in Lat. 37:15, Long. 73:48, spoke a Brig, Captain Cooper, from New-York for the Bay of Honduras, two Days out; and the next Day he spoke a Brig from the Grenades for Rhode-Island, all well.

Captain Harr, from Barbados, on the 21st Instant off the Capes of Virginia, spoke the Ship Hayfield, Captain Patterson, from this Port, just going in there, all well.

Captain Robinson, from Lisbon, on the 26th of last Month, in Lat. 37:14, Long. 45:30, spoke a Brig, Captain Colbert, from Virginia for Madeira, out 18 Days; 31st, in Lat. 37:33, Long. 55:20, spoke the Schooner Joanna, Captain Benjamin Newton, from New-Providence for London, 18 Days out; and on the 3d Instant, in Lat. 38:24, Long. 56:22, he spoke a Ship, Captain Hamilton, from Jamaica for London, 5 Weeks out, all well.

Captain Buchannan, from St. Vincents, on the 9th Instant, in Lat. 28, Long. 67, spoke with Captain Haines, in a Brig from the Grenades for Rhode-Island, out 8 Days; and on the 11th, in Lat. 30, Long. 69, he spoke with Captain Brown, in a Sloop from St. Martins for New-London, out 10 Days.

Captain Allen, from Barbados, on the 21st Instant, in Lat. 34:40, Long. 71:30, spoke a Sloop from Antigua for New-London, 13 Days out.

Captain Ewing, from Londonderry, on the 8th Instant, in Lat. 41:14, Long. 58:30, spoke the Brig Ann, Captain Daniel Lawrence, from New-York for London.

Captain Wallace, from Amsterdam, about 4 Weeks ago, off of Bermuda, spoke the Snow Rebecca, Captain Miller, from Lisbon for this Port, all well.

Captain Brass, arrived at New-York from Yarmouth, on the 14th Instant, in Lat. 38:30, Long. 61:30, spoke a Ship from Virginia for Glasgow, out 8 Days.

Captain Farmer, arrived at New-York from Liverpool, on the 21st Instant, spoke a Sloop from Philadelphia for St. Eustatia, out one Day.

By Captain Harper, from Dominica, we learn, that a Brig, belonging to one Mr. Atkinson, bound from New-York to Madeira, put into Dominica in Distress a few Days before he sailed, having sprung a Leak at Sea, and greatly damaged her Cargoe, and that it was thought she would be condemned, as unfit for Service.

Captain Warneck, from St. Croix, on the 21st Instant, in Lat. 34:17, Long. 72:8, spoke a Ship from Glasgow for Virginia, out 7 Weeks; and on the 23d, in Lat. 34:52, Long. 72:20, spoke a Sloop from Hispaniola for New-York, 10 Days out, all well.

Last Friday, about Four o' Clock in the Afternoon, a little Girl, about three Years old, was enticed away from the Door of its Parents in Arch-street, by a Woman going by, who carried it to a House at the upper End of Market-street; the Child being presently missed, diligent Enquiry was made in the Neighbourhood, and, by the Crier, all over the City, without gaining any Tidings of her, and the disconsolate Parents were in the greatest Distress imaginable till after Eleven o' Clock, when a Gentleman in the Neighbourhood came and informed them he had just luckily discovered where the Child was secreted; the Father immediately went with him to the House, brought away his Child, and secured the Woman till the next Morning, when she was by proper Authority committed to Goal, in order for Trial.
